Chicago judge given nod by Ford

Stevens high court nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to quickly schedule hearings on President Ford's nomination of Judge John Paul Stevens of Chicago to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Immediate reaction from committee members to the nomination of the 55-year-old judge was limited because many lawmakers said they knew nothing of Stevens' background.

Ford, in announcing late Friday his selection of Stevens as successor to retired Justice William O. Douglas, said Stevens has had an outstanding career in practicing and teaching law as well as on the federal bench.

Stevens appeared before reporters in Chicago shortly after the President announced the nomination. He refused all comment beyond reading a brief statement.

"If the Senate finds my qualifications acceptable, I will begin the new assignment as expeditiously as possible and will do my utmost to discharge the responsibilities of the new office in a manner consistent with the finest traditions of a great institution," Stevens said in his statement.

"In all events, I will do everything in my power to render the best possible judicial service of which I am capable.

I thank the President for his expression of confidence in me," he said.

Stevens was confirmed by the Senate in 1970 as a judge of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals serving Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

His nomination at that time by former President Richard M. Nixon stirred no controversy that committee aides could recall.

Stevens' nomination is expected to receive especially thorough scrutiny from the panel since the vacancy left by the Douglas resignation could tip the court's liberal-conservative balance. Those who are familiar with Stevens' decisions say he would most likely be a centrist justice who would swing most often to the conservative side.

"Judge Stevens is held in the highest esteem by his colleagues in the legal profession and the judiciary," the President said.

He called the nomination of a Supreme Court justice "one of the most important decisions a President has to make" and said that before making a selection he sought "the views of a wide range of Americans in the legal profession and in both public and private life."

Ford had promised to consider naming a woman to the post. There has never been a woman Supreme Court Justice. First Lady Betty Ford, who had hoped her husband would name a woman, said after the President's announcement that she was "disappointed."

But Mrs. Ford said she felt "confident that he picked the most capable and best prepared person."

Six persons nabbed in Yule tree theft

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)— Boulder County authorities took five adults and a juvenile into custody Friday in connection with an investigation into alleged illegal harvesting of Christmas trees. Each of the men were ordered held on $50,000 bond.

A sheriff's department spokesman said it appeared at least 3,000 trees, 20 to 50 feet in height, had been felled on U.S. Forest Service, U.S. Park Service and private land about 45 miles northwest of here.

Sheriff Brad Leach said after the arrests that it appeared the investigation had uncovered "an outward, well-planned, illegal, commercial type of treecutting activity. We're dealing with several thousand trees, and from investigations to this point it looks as if people were hired to do that under the guise of a commercial operation which didn't have a permit."

Sheriff's deputies impounded five trucks, including a semitractor flatbed, in the raids. Officers said the persons taken into custody also were using snowmobiles to haul trees out of the woods.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department identified the five men as Mick Sterling, 20, Lima, Ohio; Duke Baird, 24, Florence, Ala.; Thomas Fichtel, 28, Syracuse, N.Y.; and Lyons, Colo.; Steven Ostermann, 22, and Ray Henry Ostermann, 49, both Santa Monica, Calif. Under Colorado law the name of the juvenile was not disclosed.

Bond was set by District Court Judge Martin Steinberg.

The juvenile, 17, of Denver, was remanded to juvenile authorities.

The sheriff's department said the trees had been cut down on land inside the Rocky Mountain National Park and Roosevelt National Forest as well as on private land.

He said the sheriff's office and FBI would continue the investigation today. An FBI spokesman refused to acknowledge involvement in the case.

The six persons being held in jail Friday night were among a group of 19 persons apprehended earlier in the day after the sheriff's office received a resident's complaint that several people appeared to be trespassing and were cutting down trees.

The 13 other persons taken into custody were later released, a spokesman said.

One of the 13 released told the Boulder Daily Camera his participation in the tree harvesting began when he answered an advertisement in a Denver newspaper seeking lot managers to sell trees in the Denver area.

U.N. deadlock break sought

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — With time running out, nations on the Security Council worked today to break a deadlock over Syria's price for prolonging the life of the U.N. buffer force on the Golan Heights — participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization in a Security Council debate on the entire Middle East situation.

The 15-member council met privately twice on Friday and scheduled more closed-door meetings today in efforts to frame a resolution prolonging the force that would be agreeable to Israel and Syria and to their backers on the council.

Legal authority for the 1,192-man Golan peace force expires Sunday midnight. The mandate of the 4,000-troop peace force between Egypt and Israel on the Sinai front runs until October, 1976.

In between their closed sessions in a basement room at U.N. headquarters, the council delegates were in contact with representatives of Israel and Syria and with their home capitals.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told reporters in Washington some problems remain but "I am more optimistic than before" that Syria would agree to the extension.

Both Israel and Syria have accepted in principle a six-month extension. The problem was the wording that Syria wanted attached to the new mandate of the Security Council.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said in a report to the council that Syria wants the Security Council to take over "the substance of the Middle East problem" and it regards this as including the Palestinian problem.

He said its agreement to a six-month renewal depends on the council's declaring it would hold a Middle East debate in January with participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization, the PLO.

Council diplomats reported that if this were to be stated flatly in the mandate resolution it would either fail to get the required nine votes or it would be vetoed by the United States.

Tanzania and nonaligned members of the council were reported trying to work out a compromise formula that would not name the PLO but would refer to a General Assembly resolution declaring that the guerrilla organization was entitled to a full participation in Middle East matters.

Waldheim also reported, however, that Israel opposes having the Security Council become a negotiating body for Middle East problems or linking extension of the peace force mandate to the form of further negotiations.

The Golan Heights buffer force was created as a result of the Israeli-Syrian disengagement agreement which Kissinger negotiated in May, 1974, and the Israelis say this should suffice.

Atom plant security deficient

WASHINGTON (AP) — Terrorists, foreign agents and organized crime figures theoretically are capable of attacking nuclear power plants and releasing deadly radioactivity or stealing weapon components, according to a report prepared for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Publicity about U.S. intelligence operations has enhanced the capability of the Soviet bloc "to conduct sabotage operations against licensed nuclear facilities . . ." the report warned.

It was prepared by a panel of 10 persons familiar with terrorism or nuclear activity and assembled by the Mitre Corp., a research organization with offices near Washington.

The report recommends that the commission, which licenses atomic operations, take steps to increase the security of nuclear facilities.

It said such groups as the Irish Republican Army, Palestinian guerrillas, or Latin American revolutionaries might sabotage a nuclear plant as vengeance or take control of a plant, holding it "hostage to destruction unless certain demands were met."

"The acquisition of special nuclear materials by a terrorist group would give it a power of blackmail over the world at large, and the United States in particular, without precedent," the report said.

It said that members of organized crime groups also have shown the ability to carry out the "patient, methodical work" needed to penetrate seemingly secure facilities. Terrorists, foreign nations and organized crime elements might work together to sabotage a nuclear operation, it said.

The study also warned that the intelligence network of China should not be underestimated regarding nuclear plants. "It is possible that China will become a much more serious threat to licensed nuclear facilities within the next 5 or 10 years," it said.

Listing points in the nuclear chain that are susceptible to sabotage, the report said "significant radioactivity" could be released during fuel reprocessing, waste storage or transportation of nuclear wastes.

It said plutonium could be stolen, diverted or released during transport, storage, reprocessing or while in use at nuclear plants.

It warned the commission that would-be saboteurs would attempt to learn as much as possible about a plant's engineering and security details; would attempt to recruit an accomplice on the security force, and might attempt to kidnap an employee or a member of an employee's family to force cooperation.

President embarks on trip to China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, setting off on the first leg of his trip to the People's Republic of China, said today he hopes to "foster mutual understanding," but is promising the Chinese that "we will stand for our own views."

In brief remarks at Andrews Air Force Base, Ford expressed thanks that the United States is at peace in Asia and declared, "I begin a mission to Asia to consolidate that peace."

More than 100 persons, including dignitaries of the Chinese liaison office and the embassies of Indonesia and the Philippines, turned out in the cold, clear weather to see the President off.

Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, both without coats on the windswept airfield, shook hands and talked with the officials before embarking on the trip.

As he departed on the first long flight of his 10-day trip, Ford indirectly appeared to acknowledge he does not expect the United States and China to see eye to eye on key issues.

But he said "stability in Asia and international security benefit from the new relationship of mutual respect that we are developing."

The President, accompanied by wife Betty and daughter Susan, was bound first for Fairbanks, Alaska, and an inspection tour of an outlying construction site along the trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

After an overnight stop in Anchorage, they will leave for Peking, arriving Monday after a brief refueling stop near Tokyo.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a principal architect of the 1971 arrangement that re-established official contact between the United States and China, was flying with Ford.

Referring to his scheduled stops in Indonesia and the Philippines, the President said, "As I did last year on my visits to Japan and the Republic of Korea, I will reaffirm America's undiminished interest in the security and well-being of Asia. That vast region is vital to us and to the world."

In references to the four days he will spend in Peking next week, Ford said, "We will stand on our own views, as we always have. But we will seek — in the American tradition — to foster mutual understanding."

In advance of the trip, U.S. officials said that "no spectacular announcements" should be expected from the Peking talks. But a senior American official, who declined to be identified, said the President's conferences could contribute to continued forward progress in normalizing relations between the two countries.

Any firm agreement on further steps to settle American-Chinese differences over the status of Taiwan were ruled out.

The senior official said "it would be a most unusual occurrence" if Chairman Mao Tse-Tung failed to receive Ford in Peking, but said no meeting between the two leaders is scheduled.

The official said Premier Chou en-Lai, who dealt most closely with resigned President Richard M. Nixon during his 1972 visit to China, had been unable to meet foreign visitors since July. He said a Ford-Chou meeting was unlikely although it was not ruled out.

The official said most of Ford's dealings will be with Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-Ping, who is widely viewed as the acting day-to-day leader of the Chinese government and as probable successor to Mao.

In Fairbanks, Ford planned a speech on Alaska's potential contribution to meeting U.S. energy needs, as well as remarks about U.S. relations with nations in the Pacific area. The President will attend a birthday dinner tonight in Anchorage for Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska.

10th annual chitlin strut set in South Carolina town

SALLEY, S.C. (AP) — The odor of chitlins wafted over Salley today as residents prepared to serve 20,000 to 25,000 visitors expected to show up for the 10th annual Chitlin Strut.

What do chitlins smell like? "They smell like they sound — kind of rough," says Terry McMillan, who is responsible for preparation of 6,000 pounds of the hog intestines.

Does that mean bad? "If you can think of anything that smells so bad that it would take about a week for it to wear away, then it's that bad," he said.

That bad, huh? "It's a good thing you can't smell over the telephone," he told an interviewer.

The first time Salley, population 570, held the Chitlin Strut, only about 500 persons turned out. Last year more than 20,000 came. Proceeds from the strut benefit fire fighting and other town activities.

The Chitlin Strut includes a parade with U.S. Rep. Butler Derrick, D-S.C., as grand marshal; a speech by Thomas Kline of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and a night of country music.

McMillan says he doesn't remember how long he has been cooking the chitlins. The recipe, he says, calls for boiling hog intestines until they are tender, slicing them into strips three or four inches long, and then frying them in flour. Toss in a little salt and pepper.

The taste must be worth putting up with the odor because McMillan says folks come from all over.

McMillan, who began the cooking Thursday, is chef for the annual event

30 Santas get ready for duties

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty Santa Clauses lined up in Times Square for final inspection. They will man cardboard chimneys at department stores and busy street corners for the next month collecting money to provide holiday dinners for needy families.

Friday to their posts throughout the city, the Volunteers of America, which sponsors the annual effort, offered a list of do's and don'ts for Santa:

—Don't promise children they'll get all the gifts they ask for. Send them away hopeful.

—Don't lean on your chimney.

—Don't eat garlic, onions or heavily spiced food.

—Don't smoke, eat or drink on duty.

—Don't obstruct traffic in any way.

—Don't get into arguments or disputes with passersby.

—Don't visit with friends or other Santa Clauses while on duty.

—Don't become over-familiar with people — children or adults.

—Don't leave your chimney. Wait for your relief man to take over.

—Don't overdo the "Ho, ho, ho!" bit. Be jolly with taste.

—Enjoy, enjoy," says the list. "think jolly."

The do's on the list:

—Call attention to yourself. Wave to passersby. Wish everyone a "Merry Christmas!" Mean it!

—Be pleasant and courteous at all times. Enjoy. Enjoy. Think jolly.

—Ring your bell so it can be heard. A free-swinging up and down stroke adds a little zest.

—Keep close to your chimney but don't stand in front of it.

—Keep your Santa uniform neat, your whiskers clean, your boots shiny.

—Be patient with little children. Be courteous with adults.

—When asked by children why there are so many other Santas around, explain that you are all Santa's helpers.

—Refer all questions you can't answer to the headquarters officer of the Volunteers of America.

In most cases, the reports were separate and apart from those due later this month showing contributions and expenditures involved in the Nov. 4 election.

Organizations that worked for or against ballot issues-including Gov. James A. Rhodes' four ill-fated constitutional amendments, have until 45 days after the election to file reports—in this case until Dec. 19.

Among other reports filed prior to Friday's deadline were those showing the Ohioans for Gilligan committee with a balance as of Oct. 31 of $4,318.28, and the Rhodes for Governor Committee with $86,676.73. Each said the money would be used to pay any outstanding debts and for possible future campaigns.

Baptist church members burn 'sensual' rock records

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Damning rock music for its "appeal to the flesh," a Baptist church in Tallahassee has begun a campaign to put the torch to records by Elton John, the Rolling Stones and other rock stars.

Some $2,200 worth of records were tossed into a bonfire this week after church officials labeled the music immoral.

The Rev. Charles Boykin, associate pastor and youth director at the Lakewood Baptist Church, said he had seen statistics which showed "of 1,000 girls who became pregnant out of wedlock, 984 committed fornication while rock music was being played."

He said he could not remember the source of the statistics.

Boykin said Friday the main thing wrong with rock music is its sensual beat.

"There's a rhythm to our bodies and when we hear music with a similar rhythm we respond to that beat. Too much of this can affect you in the wrong way," he said, adding that even some gospel music can lead youths astray.

"There's bad music all around us.

Woman wins top lottery

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said other winners were Jane Walker of Columbus, $10,000; Marguerite J. Penn, Lima, $7,500; Jerry J. Greer, Kokomo, Ind., $5,000; Bonnie J. Sayre, Akron, $4,000; John Vangelos of Cleveland, $3,000; Gerald Kermeen of

It's not only rock music. Even gospel rock has that beat," he said.

At a Wednesday night bonfire, conducted after prayer services at the independent Baptist church, teen-age members of the church were asked to bring Top 40 records which they felt unleashed unrestrained carnal appetites.

"Teen-agers in the church felt they couldn't give the records away," Boykin said. "As one of them put it, 'That would be like giving dope away.'"

Boykin, who had preached a 1½-hour sermon on the topic, said he was gratified by the response of the church's young members.

"I've asked young people what they like about that type of music and they always tell me the same thing: 'Because it feels good.' That's all they will say," he said.

Boykin hopes to expand the crusade to other churches. "During the days ahead, we Americans need to be listening to more patriotic music," he said.

Highway death toll up slightly

The nation's Thanksgiving holiday weekend traffic death toll reached 175 today.

Snow slowed highway travel in portions of the Plateau, the northern Rockies and northern Plains. Fog and drizzle dampened roadways or lowered visibility in the eastern Plains and the Mississippi Valley.

Target: White collar crime

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has thus far issued six manuals advising police departments and others about various aspects of law enforcement. Now it is preparing a handbook which has to do with a kind of crime which is notably pernicious, though less is heard about it than muggings, rape, murder and the like.

Manuals dealing with computers, court design, evidence, organized crime, community cooperation and crime analysis have already been issued by LEAA. The new handbook will provide guidelines for handling white collar crime. It is intended for use by state and local police agencies.

They will be given directions for investigation and prosecution of persons who engage in any one of a wide range of crimes - embezzlement, false bankruptcy, loan sharking, government corruption, antitrust law violations, fraud, and so forth. This is particularly important, because in general such crimes are much harder to deal with than those involving violence.

For one thing, more specialized knowledge is required to bring such criminals to book. The LEAA's new pamphlet, by providing some of this knowledge, should prove to be a helpful weapon in the war on white collar crime.

Seek help to reduce errors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Recipients of aid to dependent children are being asked to help the state welfare department reduce its error rate to avoid cuts in welfare checks.

About 180,000 December ADC checks were accompanied by cards advising that Ohio must cut its rate of overpayments and payments to ineligible to avoid federal penalties.

"It is a direct message," said Raymond F. McKenna, state welfare director. "We have told them that failure to cut the error rate could result in a reduction in payments to welfare clients."

The federal government requires payments to ineligible be reduced to 3 per cent and overpayments to 5 per cent, the director said.

The Ohio rate is about 10 per cent on ineligible and 11 per cent on overpayments, McKenna said.

"We are improving but not enough," he added, saying the error rate in the first half of 1975 was 13 per cent for ineligible and 14 per cent for overpayments.

Federal penalties could range from $10 to $20 million in Ohio, McKenna said.

The cards told recipients it was their responsibility to notify the welfare department within five days of changes in situations that could affect the amount of their checks.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue University has established a modern-day "light brigade."

The brigade of students will patrol residence halls on a regular basis asking students to turn off unneeded lights.

The idea was one of 10,000 suggestions made by students after the administration offered a $25 prize for the best energy-saving idea.

Archie Bunker aids migrant workers

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Archie Bunker is teaching 18-year-old Mario Rodriguez to be a dental technician. The feisty television fixture also helps 22-year-old Hugo Chavez learn the fundamentals of auto mechanics and carpentry.

For Rodriguez and Chavez, as well as 20 other students, Archie Bunker is a way out of the migrant worker stream. At the Adult Migrant Education center replays of "All In the Family" television episodes aid the students to break from the migrant worker cycle.

Nancy Rocha, 18, says in Spanish she enrolled in the program to "begin to do something with my life."

A native of Renosa, Mexico, Miss Rocha spent her life as a migrant until she came to work at a tomato canning factory near here. Rodriguez and Chavez are her brothers.

If she completes the education, she said: "I'll be able to get work that is more beneficial to me, something that I will make money at."

Before episodes of the Bunker family and other programs are shown, center Director Jerry Ritzel says, the staff watches the show several times to draw a lesson plan based around the show. The program—without sound—is played in two-minute segments.

Students take turns constructing and interpreting what they are watching. "It surely brings out a lot of idiomatic expressions—wrong ones at that, but ones people use," Ritzel said. "It serves as one exposure to our culture, how we enjoy our entertainment, you might say."

Chavez and Rodriguez also attend weekly "skill exposure" classes at the Upper Valley Joint Vocational School in Piqua where they are learning to new occupations.

"We prepare a general introduction to a theme—carpentry is an example," Ritzel said. "...what a man could expect to learn, what hours he might be required to work, and so forth."

Later, after practical application of the skills at JVS, "the students come back and try to evaluate what has been learned," Ritzel said.

There is an open enrollment policy at the migrant education center, the director said. One couple is 60 years old. Several students are middle-aged, but the majority are in their late teens and early 20s.

Each student is tested to determine how long they will need the training, but 53 weeks is the limit set by the government, Ritzel said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Second spouse sick of playing second fiddle

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 and my wife is 24. It's Eldora's second marriage. She married for eight years to a man who was 15 years older than she was, and they had one child.

Abby, I really love Eldora and her son, but we've been married only four months and she's left me five times! She stays away about a week each time. She packs up and says she's going to her mother's.

The last time she left, I found out she went back to her ex-husband.

When she came home, she told me they had lived as man and wife again, and she thinks she loves him more than me because he is the father of her child. Also, she says he is a much better lover than I am. (How is that for an insult?) On the other hand, she says he is a jealous man who treats her rough and likes to run with other women.

I love Eldora and would do anything to keep her home, but how can I arrange it? This running back and forth is no good. Please help me. Maybe I need someone to tell me to kick her fanny out for good.

TROUBLED IN N.J.

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell Eldora exactly how you feel about her off-again on-again relationship with her "ex." Insist on an "all-or-nothing" marriage. And if Eldora isn't willing to be a faithful wife to you, kick her fanny back to her "ex" with no regrets.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I made a long trip to another city to visit my son and his family.

The first evening, our son came home so late for dinner that we had to eat without him.

The second night, my husband and I dined alone since my son and his wife had a previous invitation for dinner.

The third night, they asked us if we minded babysitting again while they called on friends.

The fourth night, we were asked if we'd stay with the children again while they went to a party.

The next day, we said we had to go home, and they acted very hurt because they hadn't hardly seen enough of us!

Abby, when parents visit their married children whom they do not see for months at a time, should they be expected to be unpaid babysitters?

USED IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR USED: No. And if it happens to you again, you asked for it.

DEAR ABBY: Joe and I have been married for five months, and our problem is Joe's old buddy, Le Roy. He's 23 and single, and he can't seem to get it through his head that Joe and I are married now and would like to be alone.

LeRoy makes a date with a girl, stands her up and sits at our place all evening, just watching TV or playing cards with us.

He'll come to our place right after work, just like he lives here. I've been setting the supper table for three almost every night since I've been married, and I'm tired of it.

Joe says he wishes Le Roy would bug off, but he doesn't want to hurt his feelings. I hate to say anything because Joe and Le Roy have been like brothers since they were kids, and I don't think it's my place to do the talking.

So what do you say?

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: It's your husband's place to tell his old buddy that newlyweds needs a little privacy. And if he doesn't tell him, it means that he isn't as fed up with him as you are—in which case, you should tell Le Roy as nicely as possible not to come around so often.

Farmers, Asians fight for market

WASHINGTON (AP) — The waving palm trees of Southeast Asia are a long way from Iowa soybean fields but when it comes to U.S. processors using vegetable oil the two areas are in a close struggle for the market.

Six major railroads want to reduce freight rates for hauling palm oil, mainly imports from plantations in Malaysia and Indonesia, from the West Coast to inland points where it is used to make margarine, shortening and salad dressing.

They include the Santa Fe, Burlington Northern, Milwaukee Road, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Western Pacific.

But the American Soybean Association of Hudson, Iowa, and other spokesmen for farmers say the rate reduction is discriminatory and want an equal break on soybean oil moving from the Midwest to Western points.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has had the railroad rate reduction under study and has until Dec. 3 to decide whether to let it go into effect or rule against it.

Meanwhile, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who includes many soybean farmers among his constituents, has written the commission asking that the rate reduction for palm oil be considered from a viewpoint of soybean farmers.

An aide to Humphrey said Friday that the senator was "basically expressing some concern" to the commission about the railroads' pending rate decrease in the wake of more soybean prices currently being paid to farmers.

Soybean prices at the farm averaged $4.92 a bushel on Oct. 15, according to the Agriculture Department, down from $8.17 a year earlier. Oil prices have dropped even more, from an average of 42 cents a pound in October of last year to 21 cents last month.

When soybean oil was selling for 42 cents a pound a year ago, palm oil was going for 32 or 33 cents. As a result, manufacturers turned heavily toward the imported oil.

Now that soybean oil has become much cheaper, the gap between the prices has narrowed. By this week, one USDA official said, soybean oil was quoted at 18 cents a pound and palm oil at 17 cents. On a few occasions, he said, soybean oil has been lower in price than palm oil.

The American Soybean Association says the railroads' plan calls for reducing the freight rate for palm oil from West Coast ports to the Midwest by about 31 cents per 100 pounds to $1.56 per hundredweight. Currently, both soybean and palm oil are at $1.87 per hundredweight. By reducing rates for palm and leaving soybean oil at $1.87, the association says soybean producers would be put at a disadvantage.

Milk price drop seen next year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy farmers could see milk prices drop more than usual early next year because of a prospective boost in production and what one expert in the Agriculture Department sees as a slowdown on consumer buying.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A memorial service for the victims of the ill-fated ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald is planned for Sunday morning on Lake Superior's Whitefish Bay by local officials from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and neighboring Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Plans call for Canadian and U.S. Coast Guard vessels to lay wreaths in the bay in memory of the 29 crewmen lost when the giant ore carrier went down in a storm the evening of Nov. 10.

Churches in the two Soos plan to hold a moment of silence at services Sunday, and all flags in the communities will fly at half staff.

The Fitzgerald sank in some 500 feet of water about 55 miles northwest of the Soo.

Winter wheat crop helped by snow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last week's raging storm which dumped snow on much of the parched winter wheat area of the Great Plains has helped brighten prospects but the crop, not due for harvest until next summer, still is a long way from being assured.

"It probably helped, although a lot of snow drifted and piled up around farmsteads and fences instead of remaining in fields where it was needed," Jerry Rees, executive vice president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, said.

The Agriculture Department, in a weekly weather review Tuesday, also noted benefits from last week's storm in dry areas of Kansas, Colorado and Oklahoma. Although it caused "light to moderate" livestock losses, the blizzard did help give stunted wheat a boost, officials said.

"Winter wheat received beneficial moisture in Kansas, where the 1976 crop is short and not very well rooted," the department said. "Moisture was beneficial in Colorado. In Nebraska the wheat condition was poor to mostly fair, and high winds left little or no snow on some fields."

Many farmers, particularly in western Kansas and eastern Colorado, were delayed in planting winter wheat this fall because of dry weather. Many had to "dust-in" their seed in hopes that moisture would arrive in time for it to sprout.

Farmers produced a record wheat crop this year of more than 2.1 billion bushels. Winter wheat accounts for about threefourths of the total. Kansas and other plain states are the top producers. The crop in Washington, another big wheat state, was reported in excellent condition.

The USDA will issue its first estimate of 1976 winter wheat production on Dec. 22, including state figures. Total wheat production in 1976 will not be estimated until after next year's spring crop is planted.

Despite the recent snow, Rees said, "the situation even now is much poorer in some areas than it was last year. But it's a long way from a disaster."

County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Economic outlook for agriculture, farm income taxes, and corn and soybean production are topics for three meetings planned for Fayette Counties in the next three weeks. As you turn the calendar page to December we hope you will mark the dates and plan to attend.

Thursday, December 4 is the date for the annual outlook information

United Methodist Church. A similar session for ag-businessmen is planned for 5 until 9 p.m. at the same location.

Reservations are required for the

Report farmers need assistance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —
America's farmers need more research and professional assistance if they are to do their part in meeting domestic and global food needs, a government official says.

Richard L. Felner, assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, adds, however, that to get it, the farmers must compete with skyrocketing welfare programs which now total $151.8 billion a year.

The USDA official told the 109th
Annual Convention of the National Grange on Friday that the welfare programs include $30 billion a year in Medicaid and Medicare, five of every eight school children — 25 million in all — receiving school lunch subsidies, 11 million families receiving aid to dependent children, and 19 million receiving federal food stamps.

Soon after Washington became President he decided upon a strong expedition to subdue the Indian tribes in Ohio. The first of a series of such expeditions led by Gen. Harmar, started from Ft. Washington (Cincinnati) but when it was near the site of Ft. Wayne, Ind. the force was ambushed by Indians and defeated after suffering heavy losses.

Soviet winter crops do poorly

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's newly planted 1976 winter grain crop is being plagued by the same dry weather that crippled this year's harvest and forced it to buy huge quantities of U.S. wheat and corn, the Agriculture Department said today.

Officials said despite the drought all of Russia's winter wheat, rye and barley has been planted while a year ago there was still some to do. Winter grain acreage was boosted about 4 per cent this fall.

"However, conditions of the crop so far have been uneven, in contrast to the excellent conditions at this time last season," the department said in a weekly "Foreign Agriculture" report.

Officials said, while some areas of Russia apparently have had good stands of grain, others have been bothered by the spotty germination of newly planted seeds, weeds and other effects of drought.

Similar problems have delayed U.S. winter wheat development in parts of the Great Plains, including areas of Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas where the fall-planted 1976 crop is off to a slow start.

Although the 1975 Russia winter grain crop got off to an excellent start a year ago, that crop along with spring-planted wheat, rye, barley, oats and other commodities deteriorated rapidly last summer because of drought. As a result, 1975 Soviet production now is put at 160 million metric tons, far below Moscow's goal of 215.7 million.

The short harvest triggered large purchases from U.S. supplies, now totaling about 13.2 million tons of wheat and corn plus a small amount of oats and rice. Officials say Russia may buy more, perhaps a total of 17 million tons this season. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

Meanwhile, U.S. farmers have harvested record crops of wheat and corn that department officials say is enough to meet record export demands, including the big Russian orders, without seriously boosting consumer food prices and still allow for a modest buildup in U.S. supplies.

But 1976 crop prospects are far from clear at this time. The department's first estimate of next year's winter wheat production will not be ready until Dec. 22, and it may be late next spring before there is a good idea on total Soviet output.

The big orders this season led to a temporary U.S. embargo on further sales to Russia and a long-term agreement with Moscow for future grain sales. The embargo was lifted when the agreement was announced by President Ford on Oct. 20 and sales have resumed. However, those are to meet current grain requirements, while the five-year agreement does not call for deliveries to begin until next
Oct. 1.

Under the agreement, Russia can buy six million to eight million tons of U.S. wheat and corn annually. It does not include sorghum, barley, soybeans or other grain. But, if more than eight million tons of wheat and corn in a year is wanted, Moscow will have to negotiate further with U.S. officials.

Thus, the department is watching closely weather reports affecting the Soviet winter grain crop for signals affecting future import needs, particularly if the U.S. winter wheat situation points to reduced output next year.

Mothers Circle holds auction

The November meeting of Mothers Circle was held recently in the home of Mrs. Tom Vrettos. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Marilee Peterson, with a Thanksgiving poem. Roll was called and 30 members were present. Five new names were submitted for membership.

Thank you notes were acknowledged and a report on the success of the 'haunted house' project, which is one of the main money-making projects undertaken by Mothers Circle, and whose profits are the largest contributing factor which enables the group to make contributions to other worthy organizations and helps to supply the funds for a scholarship which is offered annually, was given by Mrs. Joy Helfrich.

Each member was asked to bring a gift which is to be taken to the VA Hospital, Chillicothe, for distribution to their families during the Christmas holiday.

The meeting was concluded with the annual talent auction, which consisted of homebaked items and handmade crafts made by the members. This provided not only fun, but also funds for various projects. Mrs. Judy Boyer was the auctioneer.

Cake and coffee was served during the auction and refreshment committee members were Mrs. Linda Downing, chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright and Mrs. Nancy Ward.

Next month's meeting will be Dec. 15 in the home of Mrs. Grace Patton, and the program will be presented by Mrs. Gladys Kirk on holiday ideas.

Holiday party is planned

Beta Omega Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Steve Jennings. Tickets for the club project were distributed, and they may be purchased from any member.

The craft auction to be held Dec. 1 in the home of Mrs. Lester Bower was discussed, and the Christmas party will be Dec. 13 in the Terrace Lounge, with a party following in the home of Mrs. Bower.

American kitchens is topic of Progress Club

Mrs. John Sheeley welcomed members of The Progress Club to her home and opened with the poem, "The Seed and the Harvest." Seventeen members answered roll call by showing an antique dish or utensil, and many interesting items were presented.

Mrs. Robbert Owens presented the review, "American Kitchens" for the evening. Collecting her information from several different sources, she described the kitchen as the best room in the house, stating that kitchens had changed very little from 1300 to 1860.

From farmhouse to cottage to early town house, the kitchen was the place for almost every activity of domestic living. So much happened around the kitchen fire: baking, roasting, preserving, medicine making, sewing, spinning and love-making.

Many gadgets, implements and devices from the old-time kitchens have become collectors items of today. Such collectibles range from can openers to sausage stuffers, from apple parers to sieves, and from fruit jar wrenches to cork pressers.

Kitchens of today are quite different and often reflect the personality of the owner. A table and chair or snack bar can turn a purely functional area into a friendly inviting room where the cook herself may linger after her work is done.

Is it any wonder that a favorite sampler over the years has expressed this thought: "No matter where I serve my guests, it seems they like my kitchen best."

Mrs. Sheeley closed with the poem, "A Thankful Heart." During the social hour Mrs. Sheeley and Mrs. John Ritenour served a dessert course.

'American foods' Alpha Theta theme

Alpha Theta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority met in the home of Mrs. Don Gibbs for the November educational meeting. Assisting Mrs. Gibbs was Mrs. John Morris.

The theme, "American Foods" was observed. Educational chairman, Mrs. Charles McIlvaine, explained the importance of food in the American way of life. Members then sampled all the types of food each member had contributed.

Bruins show power in unusual game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA has given Ohio State something to think about. Now all Woody Hayes has to do is figure out what it is.

The 14th-ranked Bruins earned a place in the Rose Bowl for the first time in a decade and a rematch with Ohio State with a tense 25-22 victory over Southern California despite an incredible 11 fumbles.

"I don't care about the fumbles, I don't care how bad we played," said UCLA quarterback John Sciarra emphatically.

"We're going to the Rose Bowl and that's all that matters."

When the Bruins weren't letting loose of the ball they were letting go an overwhelming offensive show that ran up 414 yards against USC's respected defense with Sciarra throwing two touchdown passes to tight end Don Pederson. Wendell Tyler, who had four fumbles, ran for 130 yards including a 57 yard touchdown punt.

But it was the Bruin defense, a subject of derision much of the year, that saved the day, stopping Southern Cal drives four times in the fourth quarter. The Bruins gave up the ball eight times on fumbles, twice in the final five minutes, but the UCLA defense came through both times.

Ohio State, top ranked and unbeaten, is coming to Pasadena as the Big Ten champions.

UCLA, 8-2-1 overall, won the Pacific-8 Conference spot in the Rose Bowl with a 6-1 conference record, the same league mark as California. But the Bruins defeated Cal earlier and earned their first appearance in the New Year's Day Classic since Jan. 1, 1966 by winning their last three games of the season.

The Buckeyes whipped UCLA 41-20 earlier this season although there were some bright spots for the Bruins. For example, no one else has scored three touchdowns against the Buckeyes this fall.

DeWitt, Veeck claim White Sox

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bill DeWitt says he doesn't expect to make a lot of money, "but it will be a lot of fun" in his new position as a major investor in the Chicago White Sox.

DeWitt, now 73-years-old, has held executive positions with five major league baseball teams in the past 50 years and during his career he has been associated with teams that won nine major league pennants.

He now has been lured out of retirement from baseball, where he has been since 1967, by Bill Veeck, who previously worked miracles in Chicago.

"It's going to take a promoter like Veeck to get people out to Comiskey Park. He's the type of guy who stirs up a lot of excitement," said DeWitt Monday.

DeWitt said he will be an investor only and not actively engaged in the day-to-day duties despite his title as board chairman of the new group which has purchased the White Sox.

The American League has not yet given approval of the sale of the White Sox to Veeck, but is expected to do so when it meets at Cleveland Dec. 3.

"It sounded like a good investment, and I'm always interested in good deals," said DeWitt, who was given his first baseball job in 1916 by the legendary Branch Rickey.

He held previous management jobs with the St. Louis Browns, which he sold to Veeck in 1951; the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and the Cincinnati Reds, which he sold in 1967.

"I sold the Reds because I didn't want to sign a 40-year unconditional lease of Riverfront Stadium without an escape clause," he said.

"The guts of this world championship team was signed by our organization or obtained through trades of players we had here. We bought Tony Perez, drafted Gary Nolan and Johnny Bench."

DeWitt has also been the driving force behind placing a pro hockey franchise here this year. His son, Bill Jr., heads a group which helped build the $20 million Riverfront Coliseum and lured a world Hockey Association team here.

The elder DeWitt is chairman of the board of the Coliseum, the WHA Stingers and is also a stockholder with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

Blue Lion frosh lose in overtime

Coach Rick Crooks and his Washington Senior High freshmen cage team dropped a heartbreaking, double-overtime season opener to Madison Plains earlier this week.

The Blue Lion yearlings fell behind 12-5 in the first quarter, but Madison Plains could manage only one basket in the second period to fall behind 19-14 at the half.

Plains tied the score 32-32 at the end of the regulation play and the two teams were still knotted, 37-37 at the end of the first overtime period.

The Blue Lion freshmen could manage only three points in the second overtime period while Madison Plains tossed in six to take a hard-fought, 43-40, win.

Fred Jones and Steve Pritchett paced the Lions with 14 points and 12 points respectively, while Plains' J. Moss led all scorers with 17.

The Court House freshmen take on Chillicothe Smith Tuesday in their second outing of the season.

Ray Griffin named tops on defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ray Griffin, no longer known as Archie's little brother, can be excused if he has trouble applying his mind to final exams this week at Ohio State.

The sophomore safety may keep seeing his Play of the Game—a 29-yard return with his first college pass interception—that helped the No. 1-ranked Buckeyes escape Michigan with a 21-14 victory Saturday.

"I knew we had the game won when I made the interception and the runback. But I still can't believe it," said Ray, who was named the Big Ten defensive player of the week by The Associated Press.

UCLA-Indiana matchup tops cage action

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gene Bartow steps from the shadow of his coaching predecessor and brings his UCLA basketball team back to his home state tonight.

And the 45-year-old Bartow, despite being handed a rigid assignment, calls the fanfare homecoming one which rivals two others.

"The two greatest nights of my life were here," said Bartow, a former Missouri high school coach whose Bruins will play Indiana in a nationally televised game.

"One was when we won the state championship in 1957 at Kiel Auditorium," he recalled. "The other was when we played UCLA for the national title at the Arena."

For Bartow, the successor to the legendary John Wooden at UCLA, the return to the Arena will be his first in nearly three years.

In 1973, while at Memphis State, he watched his Tigers bow 87-66 to the school he now coaches, then under the charge of Wooden.

Last year Bartow moved on to Illinois, where a rebuilding program he started was abruptly interrupted in April when he was called to succeed the retiring Wooden.

This year, as if the pressures of following Wooden were not enough, his task at the season's outset is to take on a rival which is top-rated in The Associated Press' preseason collegiate poll.

"If we win, it'll be the greatest win in the world," said Bartow, whose defending national champion Bruins are ranked second.

"If we don't win, well, we'll try again," he said. "They have more incentives than us, but I hope that we'll see some incentives in this, too."

The incentives to which Bartow referred include Indiana's renewed quest of the title UCLA snared last year, its 10th in 12 years.

For regulars return for the Hoosiers, who won 31 straight games a year ago until knocked off by Kentucky in an NCAA regional final.

"I just think the players are tired of playing against each other," remarked fiery Bobby Knight, Indiana's fifth-season young coach.

"I think it's very, very interesting to have an opportunity to play against some very good teams," Knight added. "When the possibility of this game first came up, I asked the squad about it and they unanimously voted for it."

The 19,000-seat Arena, where Indiana last played two years ago as champions of the first Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney, has been sold out for several months.

A late starting game, 11:40 EST, the matchup is the second game of a doubleheader. St. Louis meets Southern Methodist in the opener.

Four ranked teams were in action Friday night as the 1975-76 college basketball season got under way. Arizona, ranked 11th, beat Oregon State 96-67; 15th-ranked San Francisco whipped California-Santa Barbara 98-66; 17th-ranked Providence walloped Stonehill 102-76, and 20th-rated Syracuse was upset by Austin Peay, 93-83.

Bob Elliott scored 23 points to lead Arizona's trouncing of Oregon State in the first meeting of the teams. The Beavers took the lead at the outset, but Herman Harris put the Wildcats ahead to stay with 15:50 to play in the first half.

Forward James Hardy, one of three freshmen in San Francisco's starting lineup, opened a second-half scoring spree which triggered the Dons over California-Santa Barbara.

Providence's Joe Hassett scored 21 points as the Friars opened their season with a 102-76 romp over Stonehill. The Friars were in command all the way and used all 13 players who had suited up for the game.

Freshman Sam Drummer scored 25 points and Otis Howard contributed 23 as Austin Peay upset Syracuse 93-83 to join Clemson in Saturday night's championship game of the third annual IPTAY Basketball Classic. Clemson, led by 7-foot-1 center Wayne "Tree" Rollins, defeated Harvard 78-64 in the first game at Clemson, S. C.

The IPTAY was one of several tournaments around the country.

Tom Lockhart scored 25 points to lead Manhattan to a 99-83 victory over Connecticut in the first round of the Joe Lapchick Memorial Tournament in New York. St. John's earned a berth in Saturday's finals by whipping Colgate 74-51 behind George Johnson's 23 points.

Mike Pyatt scored 19 points to lead Massachusetts over Ohio University 95-82 in one of the openers of the Hall of Fame Tourney in Springfield, Mass. In the other game, Niagara whipped Fairfield 83-78 in overtime behind Jim Singleton.

In the Louisiana Classic at Baton Rouge, Kenzie Higgs scored 21 points to lead Louisiana State to a 109-73 victory over City College of New York. Gene Ransome had 20 points as California beat Chicago-Loyola 93-75 in the night's other game.

In other games, Washington beat Santa Clara 76-50; LaSalle defeated Delaware 100-86; St. Joseph's, Pa., romped over Albright 110-70; New Mexico State defeated Texas-Arlington 102-84; Fordham stopped Navy 63-55; Nebraska 60-58 and Georgia Tech nipped Georgia 59-57.

Second-string QB's in spotlight

NFL showdown nears

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

With the National Football League season reaching its showdown stage, the success or failure of two playoff-hopeful clubs may depend on the ability of a pair of little-used backup quarterbacks.

In the American Conference East, Miami holds a one-half game lead over Buffalo and is just one game ahead of Baltimore. The Dolphins also must face the remainder of the season with 41-year-old Earl Morrall at quarterback, replacing injured Bob Griese.

And in the AFC Central, Cincinnati has slipped one game behind Pittsburgh and may have to use backup John Reaves at quarterback if Ken Anderson does not recover from the bruised chest he suffered in last week's stunning loss against Cleveland.

The NFL's 11th weekend got an early start on Thanksgiving Day when Buffalo stung St. Louis 32-14 and Los Angeles shut out Detroit 20-0.

The Rams' victory clinched their third straight NFC West title and also wrapped up Minnesota's NFC Central crown. Buffalo's triumph tightened both the AFC and NFC East races, putting pressure on Miami in the AFC East and cutting the Cardinals' NFC East edge to just one-half game over Dallas and 1½ over Washington.

Sunday's schedule has Dallas hosting the New York Giants, Minnesota at Washington, Pittsburgh at the New York Jets, Houston at Cincinnati, Atlanta at Oakland, Kansas City at Baltimore, San Francisco at Philadelphia, San Diego at Denver, Chicago at Green Bay and New Orleans at Cleveland.

New England plays the Dolphins at Miami in Monday night's game.

Morrall will be calling the plays for Miami in that one. It's not exactly an unfamiliar role for the veteran quarterback, who came off the bench to steer Baltimore to the Super Bowl in 1970 and then did the same thing for the Dolphins in 1972.

But he had a dreadful time last Sunday, completing only one of nine passes after Griese was injured in the loss to Baltimore. That gave him six completions in 15 attempts this season.

Still, that's a better percentage than Cincinnati's Reaves, who has connected on just four of 16 this year as Anderson's backup but could find himself in the driver's seat against Houston.

Anderson was listed as questionable because of his chest injury suffered against the Browns last week. After he left the game, Cleveland came on to score 20 points in the fourth quarter and win its first game of the year.

That loss, combined with Pittsburgh's Monday night trouncing of Houston left the defending champion Steelers one game in front of Cincinnati and two up on Houston in the AFC Central. Pittsburgh has won eight straight games and carries the streak against the Jets, who've lost seven in a row.

The Oakland Raiders can join Los Angeles and Minnesota as a division champion by beating Atlanta this week and hoping that Kansas City loses to Baltimore. The Raiders, who've won five straight games, are after their fourth consecutive AFC West crown.

Meanwhile, Buffalo's Thanksgiving Day victory over St. Louis not only put the heat on Miami in the AFC East but also produced pressure for the Cards in the NFC East. The loss trimmed St. Louis' lead to just one-half game over Dallas and 1½ over Washington.

Dallas can tie for the top spot by beating the Giants and if Washington can halt Minnesota's 10-game winning streak, it would tighten things even more, leaving the Redskins only one game behind.

Kansas City's game at Baltimore is vital to the Colts, whose five-game winning streak has them hot on Miami's tail in the AFC East. The Chiefs, having turned their season around, winning five of seven games since an 0-3 start.

Sunday's other games have no bearing on the remaining races.

Wilmington mentor nets coaching laurels

WILMINGTON — Wilmington College football coach Bill Ramseyer has been named Coach of the Year by his fellow coaches in District 22 of the NAIA, which encompasses all of Ohio.

Ramseyer led the Quakers to a 6-2-1 record this season, their best showing in over two decades. Wilmington finished second in the Hoosier-Buckeye Collegiate Conference.

Wilmington statistically had the sixth best defense in the national Division 2 NAIA ratings and was ranked ninth in the nation over-all in the same division's final regular season ratings.

Ramseyer, who also serves as Director of Athletic Programs and Facilities at Wilmington, has been the Quaker coach for four years. His overall record there is 21-12-1.

Before coming to Wilmington, Ramseyer was on the staff of University of Missouri head coach Al Onofrio. He also had served on Dan Devine's staff there.

Ramseyer is a native of Bluffton, Ohio, and was graduated from Bluffton College in 1958.

Ramseyer's football coaching career has included high school, small college, and major university assignments. At Firelands High School, in Lorain County, Ohio, he promptly brought the school its first winning season in history and over a three-year span compiled a 24-2 record.

In 1966 Ramseyer returned to Bluffton College as defensive coach and molded a unit that held three rivals to a total of seven points as Bluffton won the conference title.

During Ramseyer's tenure at the University of Missouri, the Tigers won the 1969 Big Eight title, chalking up a 9-1 record on their way to the Orange Bowl and a 6th place national ranking.

Ramseyer is also an author of a book "Flip That Coin," which deals with the year-round organization of a football program at either high school or college level.

Nets defeat Squires

By The Associated Press
The last time the New York Nets met the Virginia Squires, Ticky Burden had a field day.

The Nets made sure that wouldn't happen again Friday night. Specifically, Brian Taylor made sure. "Taylor really did an outstanding job on Burden, didn't he?" asked New York Nets Coach Kevin Loughery after his guard held the Squires' high scorer to merely six points.

The result was a 116-97 Nets victory. "That hurt them," Loughery acknowledged. "Ticky's got to score for them or they're in trouble."

Last week, Burden did his thing, netting 32 points—and as a result, the Squires took a 110-100 decision from the Nets.

"Our defense kept us together in the game, especially in the second and last quarters," Loughery said. "We held them to four points in the last few minutes. That was the key. Our defense just carried the whole show."

In the night's other ABA games, the Denver Nuggets whipped the San Antonio Spurs 140-136 in overtime and the Spirits of St. Louis trimmed the Indiana Pacers 113-112.

Julius Erving scored 31 points and keyed a last-quarter rally to lead the Nets' offense. The Nets and Squires were never more than seven points apart throughout the first three quarters and it wasn't until late in the game that New York broke it open.

Lonnie Perrin named offensive leader

CHICAGO (AP) — Tailback Lonnie Perrin of Illinois has been named the Big Ten Player of the Week on offense by The Associated Press.

Perrin, a senior from Washington, D.C., scored four touchdowns in leading Illinois to a 28-7 victory over Northwestern last Saturday while gaining 174 yards in 24 carries.

Bulls stop Milwaukee, 89-69

By The Associated Press
The Chicago Bulls finally came up for air and Coach Dick Motta was extremely happy to get a fresh breath.

Choking on a nine-game losing streak, the Bulls broke out of their depressing rut with an 89-69 National Basketball Association victory over the Milwaukee Bucks Friday night.

"I am certainly not beating the drums about winning any title," said

Motta. "Right now all I want to do is make the playoffs since we are in a hole so far."

"For us it's got to be the same old story—getting inside, grabbing the offensive board and playing tough defense. I am very agreeable to letting the other team shoot from the outside because we'll win more than we'll lose."

Chicago center Tom Boerwinkle also was happy to see a little sunshine in Chicago.

"This is the best game we've played because everyone was moving," he said. "I know there's been a lot of pressure on me because I'm supposed to be a good passer and not a good scorer. But maybe we'll get rolling now."

In the other NBA games, the Boston Celtics whipped the Atlanta Hawks 114-107, the Philadelphia 76ers blasted the Seattle SuperSonics 113-94, the Kansas City Kings nipped the New Orleans Jazz 98-97, the Los Angeles Lakers turned back the Buffalo Braves 126-105 and the Phoenix Suns trimmed the Portland Trail Blazers 110-101.

New Tool for Knee Problems

It is now possible to look directly into the knee to make a definite diagnosis of disease and disorders that exist within it. This is known as arthroscopy. Through a fine viewing instrument almost every detail of the inside anatomy of the knee can be seen.

Through this instrument, the doctor can inspect the cartilage and the ligaments. Arthritis, tears of the ligaments and other disorders can be diagnosed with an accuracy of more than 90 per cent.

Children who are born deaf are now given some form of treatment as soon as the diagnosis is established. At the Lexington School for the Deaf, in New York City, efforts are made to start auditory training even at the age of one year. Special effort is devoted to this early training of the deaf infant, in association with the training of the parents. With this combined approach, there is a greater possibility that children will develop language skills within the limits of their hearing problems.

The Lexington School for the Deaf has for years been one of the pioneering institutions in America for the total physical and psychological rehabilitation of the deaf child.

Another piece in the jigsaw puzzle of psoriasis seems to have been put in place.

Dr. Ernst H. Beutner, of the State University at Buffalo, N.Y. and Dr. Stefania Jablonska, of the Warsaw Medical School in Poland, have advanced a new theory about the mysterious cause of psoriasis.

They believe that special antibodies tend to break through into the lower layers of the skin and set up a complex series of chemical reactions responsible for psoriasis.

It is believed that this new contribution may bring better insight into the mysteries that have resisted scientific attacks on this problem.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism: A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

The bidding:

East    South    West    North

Pass   2 NT    Pass   3 NT

Opening lead - six of spades.

Assume you're in three notrump and West leads a spade. East wins with the king and returns the jack, which you duck—hoping that East started with the doubleton K-J.

When the jack holds, East shifts to the queen of hearts and you make a mental note that West started with six spades.

You win with the king and cash the A-Q of diamonds. Surprisingly, East shows out on the second diamond. This unexpected development may be disconcerting, but actually it is not at all unfavorable.

In fact, you should now feel 100 per cent sure of the contract, since you cannot be stopped from making four club tricks regardless of how the remaining cards are divided.

Having learned that West started with six spades and four diamonds, you play a second round of hearts and follow this with a low club to the queen. When West follows suit, his original distribution is revealed as 6-2-4-1.

You lead dummy's ten of clubs, intending to finesse. If East covers, he merely postpones his agony when you take the king and return to dummy with a diamond for another club lead through the nine.

You can also make the hand by cashing the A-K of clubs after East plays the heart queen at trick three.

When West does not follow to the second club, you force him to reveal his distribution by playing the A-Q of diamonds. East showing out, you know West's distribution consisted of six spades, four diamonds, one club and, hence, two hearts.

You cash the ace of hearts, play a diamond to the king, and put East on lead with a heart. He cashes the J-10 but must return a club from his J-9 to dummy's Q-10, thus demonstrating that there's more than one way to skin a cat.

Connally eyes 3rd-party race

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Connally, former governor of Texas and secretary of the treasury, says he might consider a third-party try for the presidency if he decides neither major political party is taking the best course for the nation.

"If I think that neither of (the) two principal parties are on a course that would tend to best serve the nation and a third party arose that I thought was committed to the very things in which I deeply believe, then I might well consider running," he said.

Connally made the comment in an interview with "Conservative Digest." He was not asked about the possibility of seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

Spain Retires FROM Florida.

OR, HOW AMERICA picked up FLORIDA for $5 million.

No luxury hotels. No drinks served at the pool. Just sand and palms and alligators. And a lot of fighting for it that destroyed property throughout Florida.

Americans in Florida figured Spain owed them $5,000,000 in property damages.

Our government offered to pick up the tab for Spain, if Spain would retire from Florida. Spain accepted. And was out.

You know, money from our citizens helped pay for things back then. And it still does.

Today, you can help with U.S. Savings Bonds. And at the same time, they let you build savings. Easily. Automatically.

This happens when you join the Payroll Savings Plan, or buy Bonds where you bank. Year after year, you accumulate more and more savings. And it can add up to a bundle.

So maybe you'd better start this week. Because, someday, you'll have to retire, too.

Job club proves hugely successful

ANNA, Ill. (AP) — Ninety per cent of the unemployed persons who joined a job club here were working within two months. The social researcher who organized the club says he applied behavior-modification techniques to the task of job hunting.

Dr. N.H. Azrin, a psychologist and learning specialist at Anna State Mental Health Center, spent four years developing the job club idea.

He gathered 120 jobless persons from the Carbondale area, 15 miles north of Anna in southern Illinois, and divided them into two closely matched groups. Sixty were directed to look for work in the usual manner — individually — while the others enrolled in a job club.

Club members gathered daily in a small office for counseling in job-hunting techniques. They swapped leads, helped one another compile resumes and measured progress toward finding work against each other.

They also engaged in role playing, a psychological game-situation where they took turns playing employer and job seeker in mock interviews.

Azrin is recognized nationally for his work in behavior modification, altering behavior patterns through reward, punishment or other motivating factors.

"I applied that general type of approach to the problem of job finding," said Azrin. "It is not only a matter of learning what to do. Motivation is an important part of it. I created a situation in which job seekers worked together to find a job and I used social contact to provide the motivation."

The Carbondale area is jobs scarce, largely rural and has little industry. Nonetheless, 90 per cent of the club members had jobs within two months and all who attended regularly were working, Azrin said.

In the other group, those left on their own, only 55 per cent found work, he said.

Of the job club people, 55 per cent got skilled or semiskilled jobs, Azrin reported. Twenty per cent found professional jobs and 20 per cent ended up in unskilled jobs.

Of those in the other group who found jobs, 60 per cent got unskilled work. Only 5 per cent secured professional jobs and 35 per cent landed skilled or semiskilled positions.

"The average starting salary was about a third higher for the counseled job seekers," Azrin said. On the average, he said, it took job club members two weeks to secure employment. The average for nonmembers was two months.

The club is still operating and Azrin said the U.S. Department of Labor has asked him to submit a report for study.

The job-club idea could work elsewhere, according to Azrin. "All of the indicators that I see show it would work more successfully in an urban center," he said.

Medicaid takes listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Ohioans were included on a list released by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Friday of doctors in individual practice who received $100,000 or more from the Medicaid program in 1974.

The list was made available under the Freedom of Information Act by HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service (SRS).

"The fact that these physicians received the stated amounts from the Medicaid program should not be construed as any evidence of wrongdoing, nor do the amounts listed necessarily represent 'earnings' or 'profits,'" said John A. Svahn, acting administrator.

The Ohio doctors are:

Louis E. Hammond 11201 Shaker Blvd. Cleveland 44104 $111,311; Octobre

Reyes Mount Sinai Hosp. Emerg. 1800 E. 105th Cleveland 44106 $112,007;

Hunt lost airplane

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A search continued today by elements of the Civil Air Patrol from Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia for a light plane, piloted by a Milwaukee man and carrying three passengers, which was missing on a flight to Florida.

The single engine Cherokee Piper refueled at London, Ky., early Thursday evening after arriving from Milwaukee, Wis., Lt. Dave Hall of the Kentucky CAP wing said.

Hall said the plane, piloted by Don Lorenz, took on 67 gallons of fuel before continuing on a flight to Florida. While no flight plan was filed, the CAP was told the plane was bound for Miami.

The passengers were identified as Ken Schuller, address unknown, and Mr. and Mrs. David Higgins of Cincinnati, Ohio. Higgins was also identified as a U.S. Navy enlisted man, Hall said.

The Kentucky CAP flew 20 hours of missions looking for the plane Friday and one U.S. Air Force plane took part in the search, Hall said.

"The weather south of London was bad," Hall said, "but the pilot had already flown through snow storms which were probably worse."

He said the search would be concentrated toward the east Saturday to cover a route the pilot could have taken to avoid the brunt of poor weather conditions.

Gasoline taxes sent out by state

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than $9 million in gasoline taxes has been returned to Ohio counties, cities and towns in November, the state auditor's office says.

Each of the 1,320 townships received $1,000 and each of the 88 counties $30,000, Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said.

A total of $5,083,900 was allocated to the 967 cities and villages on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

Showers and thundershowers were expected to spread over most of Ohio today, and likely will continue tonight and Sunday. Mild temperatures will continue Sunday, but colder air is due Sunday night and Monday.

Highs today were forecast in the 50s, rising into the upper 50s and 60s Sunday. Overnight lows tonight will drop into the 40s.

Clouds spread over Ohio last night preventing temperatures from falling. Early this morning readings were in the upper 20s and 30s. Cincinnati was high with 39 and Youngstown low with 26.

No precipitation was reported in Ohio last night.

Bicentennial deadline nears

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cities and towns that want to be designated bicentennial communities may have only two or three months left to apply, says the Ohio American Revolution Bicentennial Advisory Commission.

The commission says it does not believe applications will be accepted in Washington after March 1976 and that the paperwork should reach the nation's capital by Feb. 15.

Ohio leads the nation with 415 bicentennial communities, the commission says.
